About WomenPowerConnect (WPC)

WomenPowerConnect (WPC) was born out of the realization that, despite substantial grassroots efforts, women’s organizations and groups in India lacked the necessary co-ordination needed for translating their efforts into legislative and policy outcomes necessary for real progress.

Despite the fact that parliamentarians have the zest to address issues related to women’s rights and empowerment, they lack the mechanism to address this in a smooth manner as the information provided to them by the various grassroots organizations is voluminous and incoherent. It was, therefore, felt that a national level agency could bridge the gap between the activities of the organizations working at the grassroots and the institutions that can bring about policy level outcomes.

The organization which began in 2005 today is a national level advocacy body with a membership base of over 1,400 individuals and NGOs, spread across the country. An integral aspect of WPC is its commitment to addressing gender discrimination from all angles and creating a gender just society by working towards the political, social and economic empowerment of women. Through successful partnerships with governmental bodies both at National and State level, UN Agencies and its selected partner organizations in different states WPC has been working on important issues and projects. This involves extensive policy analysis, policy advocacy, media advocacy, capacity building, research, alliance formation and community mobilization to engender social change and community empowerment.

WPC’s overarching aim is to create an interface between civil society organizations and governmental bodies and provide a platform for highlighting ground-level experiences. This has proven to be immensely effective in the delineation of key recommendations, identification of barriers to strategic policy implementation, facilitating the formation of committees with civil society and governmental representation.

WPC’s focus areas include:

- Passage of the Women’s Reservation Bill.
- Gender Budgeting
- Effectively addressing the problem of Gender Based Violence.
- Empowering girls by addressing the issue of Child Marriage.
- Economic Empowerment of women including building people’s movement for pro-women farmer policies.
- Arresting declining child sex ratio and the implementation of the Pre-Conception and Pre-Natal Diagnostics Techniques Act (PCPNDT) Act, 1994.
- Enhancing value of girl child.
The Asia Foundation is a nonprofit international development organization committed to improving lives across a dynamic and developing Asia. Informed by six decades of experience and deep local expertise, our work across the region addresses five overarching goals—strengthens governance, empower women, expand economic opportunity, increase environmental resilience, and promote regional cooperation.

Headquartered in San Francisco, The Asia Foundation works through a network of offices in 18 Asian countries and in Washington, DC. Working with public and private partners, the Foundation receives funding from a diverse group of bilateral and multilateral development agencies, foundations, corporations, and individuals. In 2016, we provided $87.8 million in direct program support and distributed textbooks and other educational materials valued at $9.5 million.
Foreword

We are pleased to share with you the Resource Directory entitled “Helping Victims become Survivors: A Resource Directory of Support Structures and Services in Delhi-NCR, Uttar Pradesh and Haryana.”

This resource directory is the third to be brought out by WPC in relation to support services existing for survivors of Gender based violence (GBV). We have earlier successfully brought out resource directories in relation to support services dealing with prevention of child marriages and support services for survivors of domestic violence.

Resource Directories are more than a simple listing of phone numbers and contact details. A comprehensive resource directory identifies the nature of services available for survivors/victims of gender based violence. The task of verifying the contact details involves the process of communicating with the service provider and ensuring its existence. For the purpose of this directory, Focus Group Discussions (FGDs) were held with support structures in Delhi, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh in order to identify gaps in the provision of services and recommendations for moving forward.

One of our key findings is that the criminal justice system on its own cannot provide survivors with the nature of support required for reintegration. The role played by NGOs, shelter homes, vocational training centres and local level bodies, such as panchayats, can be invaluable in both identifying victims and assisting survivors. Further, structures set up to support survivors of one particular kind of violence (such as domestic violence) cannot close their eyes to the interlinkages between domestic violence (DV) and other forms of GBV. For example, trafficked brides are often subjected to domestic violence.

The capacity of support structures to provide services to survivors needs to be strengthened. It is our hope that the publication of this directory is useful in creating awareness and strengthening referral capabilities.

Acknowledgments

We would like to begin by acknowledging and thanking The Asia Foundation without the support of whom this Resource Directory would not have been possible. At The Asia Foundation we would like to especially thank Ms. Diya Nag and Mr. Sheikh Vakil whose constant support over the past few months is much appreciated and valued.

We would like to thank and express our gratitude to the WPC Governing Body members, Dr. Ranjana Kumari, Dr. N. Hamsa, and Ms. Gouri Chowdhury for guiding us in all our efforts. Dr. Vibhuti Patel, President, WPC, provided us with insights on the complexities involved in rescuing women and girls trafficked for sex work. We are especially thankful to Ms. Tara Appachu Sharma, Senior Director, PSI for being a part of the the Advisory Group. In addition, we are grateful to Mr. Nabesh Bohidar (CARE, India), Ms. Karuna Dayal (MARG), Ms. Deepshikha Singh (PRAYAS), Mr. Amit Kumar, Ms. Kusum (AINSW) and Ms. Tanya D’Souza (YWCA) for guiding us in the process of drafting the Resource Directory. We are grateful to Ms. (Judge) Shreya Arora Mehta, Secretary, Delhi Legal Services Authority (South) for attending the Advisory Group meeting and providing insights on the Delhi Victim Compensation Scheme.

We are grateful to our members, Mr. Naseem Ansari, Director, Tarun Chetna, for coordinating the Focus Group Discussion in Uttar Pradesh (Bahraich) and to Mr. Jasphool Singh for coordinating the Focus Group Discussion in Haryana (Meham).

The technical guidance and comments provided by Dr. Jyotsna Chatterjee, Ms. Padmini Kumar of the Joint Women’s Programme and by PRAYAS is much appreciated.

In the WPC team thanks goes to Ms. Gayatri Sharma (Program Director), Ms. Sangeeta Banerjee (Project Coordinator), Ms. Parul Sethi (Project Coordinator) and Ms. Gargi Mishra (Project Coordinator) for researching and compiling the Directory in a user friendly manner. Finally, we are grateful to our interns, Ms. Simranjeet Kaur and Ms. Hemlata Yadav for assisting with the telephonic interviews.
A Resource Directory of Support Structures and Services in Delhi-NCR, Uttar Pradesh and Haryana

Case study narrated at the Bahraich FGD (Uttar Pradesh) – 20th December, 2016

A is a minor from Jharkhand who was procured by a family in Uttar Pradesh to do household chores. She was subjected to sexual abuse by male members of the family. Everyone in the village knew that A was being abused but no one wanted to speak up or get into trouble by reporting the case to the police.

An NGO got to know of this case. The NGO case worker, S, pretended to be conducting a household survey. She reached the house where A was kept and asked the family how many female members resided in the family. At first, the family member did not divulge about A’s existence. S insisted that the survey would yield financial benefits to all female members and so they should not hesitate to disclose all the members of the family. Thereafter, A was produced before S. Once this was done and S took down A’s particulars, S informed the police, who rescued A from the house. A was thereafter produced before the Child Welfare Committee who arranged for her shelter.

Case study narrated at the Meham FGD (Haryana) – 30th January 2017

G is a woman of an impoverished family residing in Tripura. She learnt that some men from Haryana were searching for wives whom they could take back. They offered G’s family and a middle-man bride price for settling the marriage. Once G reached Haryana she found herself treated as a slave. As she could not speak the local language she found herself isolated and unable to adjust to the new surroundings. Finally, G approached the local Protection Officer and filed a case for protection and compensation under the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005. She was awarded relief and she returned to her natal family.

Case study narrated at the Delhi FGD – 19th January, 2017

P belongs to a tribal community and hails from West Bengal. Due to poor financial condition at home, she came to work in Delhi. She had worked for two months in a house with four members where she was subjected to severe physical abuse. She was beaten up by rods and knives for minor mistakes. One day, in the wee hours, she ran away from the house and got trafficked from there. She was rescued by the Prayas railway project team at New Delhi Railway Station.

It was found that she was bearing several internal and external injuries. Immediate medical attention was given to her. On the legal side, the perpetrator i.e. employers were arrested who are now in judicial custody. She wants to go back to her family and does not want to re-live the whole incidence of abuse. Prayas helped her to get wages due to her for two months from the placement agency through the intervention of the child welfare committee, Delhi.

The traffickers comprised relatives, neighbors, influential person in the community and even teachers.
Introduction

According to the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) – the sole official source of data on numbers of crimes recorded in India – a total of 6,877 cases of human trafficking were registered in 2015.\(^1\) A total of 3,490 cases of child trafficking were registered in the same year.\(^2\) According to the Global Slavery Index, India has 18 million slaves, which is the largest number of enslaved people in the world.\(^3\)

Human trafficking is a serious criminal offence which can be perpetrated upon any human being; an adult man, an adult woman or a child of any sex. Human trafficking is closely associated with labour migration, however, unlike voluntary migration, it involves the use of threat or use of force or other forms of coercion for the purpose of exploitation.

There are several domestic and international laws that criminalize trafficking in India. Prior to 2013, the Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, 1956 was the primary legislation in India regulating trafficking. ITPA does not contain a definition of the term “trafficking”, but focuses on criminalizing the activities of persons engaged in the sale and procurement of women and girls for the purpose of prostitution.

The United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime (UNTOC) was ratified by the Indian government in 2011. The UNTOC is supplemented by three Protocols. Article 3 (a) of the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, 2000 (The “Palermo Protocol”) defines `trafficking in persons’ (TIP) to mean:

\text{“the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harbouring or receipt of persons by means of threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability or of the giving or receiving of payments or benefits to achieve the consent of a person having control over another person, for the purpose of exploitation. Exploitation shall include, at a minimum, the exploitation of the prostitution of others or other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labour or services, slavery or practices similar to slavery, servitude or the removal of organs...”}

Following the gang rape and death of “Nirbhaya” (a young woman) on December 16, 2012, widespread protests by the public led to amendments in criminal law dealing with sexual violence against women. Justice Verma, a former Judge of the Supreme Court, headed a committee to suggest changes to be made in Indian criminal law. In 2013, the Criminal Law (Amendment) Act introduced a definition of trafficking in India for the first time based on the Palermo Protocol.\(^4\) For the first time, India adopted a holistic definition of trafficking compatible with international standards. The definition of “Trafficking” now covers forced labour in all sectors, for example, forced marriages, domestic work, or sex work, and is characterized by cross border movement (both international and domestic).

The data related to prosecution, as made available by the NCRB, show that out of 19,717 cases relating to human trafficking; trials have been completed in 2,075 cases during the year 2015, only about 10%. A total of 824 cases ended in conviction, showing a conviction rate of 39.7%.\(^5\) The maximum conviction rate was in cases involving buying of minors for prostitution. The data indicates a high rate of pendency of cases and a low conviction rate. This encourages an environment of impunity for traffickers and also points to the failure and limitations of the criminal justice system to deliver justice to victims/survivors of trafficking.

The actual numbers of cases of trafficking are likely to be much higher. Reporting is minimal and FIR’s do not get registered against traffickers in India for various reasons:

- The survivor does not speak up – for example, in case of undocumented transnational migrants, there is a fear of being penalized by the police. The survivor/victim may not want to be repatriated back to his/her place of origin for multiple reasons and therefore fears speaking out. Victims/survivors fear the trafficker will accuse them of being complicit in the crime and therefore also do not speak out. Mistrust of authorities and lack of knowledge about the role of stakeholders plays a part in non-reporting of the offence;
- FIR’s are not registered by stakeholders for various reasons. For example, if a survivor/victim changes her statement frequently a stakeholder may prefer to refer her to a shelter home rather than record an FIR.

The Declaration of Basic Principles of Justice for Victims of Crime and Abuse of Power, adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in 1985 identifies compensation, access to justice and fair treatment, restitution, and assistance as the four pillars of justice delivery. Along with access to expeditious and fair judicial mechanisms, it is equally important that victims/survivors should receive material, medical, psychological and social assistance through governmental, voluntary, community-based and indigenous means. Victims need to be informed of, and have access to the available support structures, for their recovery and rehabilitation; and stakeholders such as police, judiciary, health personnel and social services must be sensitized to respond to the needs of the victims and ensure appropriate aid.

Who is Vulnerable to Human Trafficking?

Undocumented Migrants
X is 13 years old and lives in a village in Bihar. She is informed by her uncle that he can send her to Delhi to get trained in playing professional hockey. X is asked to pay fifty thousand rupees as fees for the training to B, who will arrange for her travel, training and stay in Delhi. X’s family pays the amount. When she reaches Delhi with B, X finds herself taken to work for a family as a domestic worker. X has no identity proof. B produces a fake voter ID card showing B as X’s father.

Urban Slum Dwellers
S is an 11-year-old girl living in a slum near Govindpuri, Delhi. One day, raids are conducted on the slum in order to clear the area. S runs away during the raids and is captured by L, who runs a racket of trafficking children into begging. S is taken to Gurgaon and is expected to beg every day close to a mall.

Persons Displaced due to Natural Disasters
Women and girls in Chamoli and Uttarkashi districts were sold into marriages following flooding and landslides in Uttarakhand. Desperation and impoverishment led families to accept payment from traffickers.

6 General Assembly Resolution 40/34 of 29 November 1985
States with low sex ratios, such as Haryana or Uttar Pradesh, are destination States for bride trafficking.

Online Safety

Y lives in Jalandhar, Punjab. She and her family are keen for her to marry an NRI groom. Y creates an online profile on a matrimonial website and starts chatting to S. S says he is based in London and has a good job. He promises to meet Y in London and says they will get married once they meet. He sends Y the money for her flight ticket. Y reaches London where she meets S. S confines her to a small room. She is made to have sexual relations with several of S’s acquaintances. S says Y has to pay for the flight ticket he sponsored for her and hence she will have to work in any way he says.
Stakeholders, in the absence of access to information, often carry out their functions without establishing necessary linkages and coordination between each other. This hinders effective justice for survivors/victims of trafficking and also hampers the criminal prosecution process. For example, in many cases, victims/survivors are traumatized, are fearful of speaking out against the perpetrators and are wary of engaging with the criminal justice system. They need counseling services to prepare them for the rigors of trial. Often, the families of rescued victims are responsible for trafficking of the person, and there is a great danger of further re-victimizing the survivor when the police or courts repatriate him/her to her family. Shelter homes can provide the necessary support in such cases. Knowledge about the contact details of both private funded and state funded shelter homes is a necessity.

Comprehensive efforts to target TIP and to promote the rights of survivors thus require stakeholders to have access to information about support structures for survivors of trafficking. Such information is also required in order to prevent trafficking, address the root causes of trafficking, and promotes awareness of laws and policies in the countries of origin and to reduce demand. Protection includes measures to review and strengthen support services, promotion of activities that allow for the early identification of trafficked persons, and establishing a system of repatriation that allows for the safe return of trafficked persons to their place of origin necessary. Successful prosecution of traffickers necessitates that the survivor/victims is not penalised, but rather, compensated for the harm he/she has undergone.

This Resource Directory is a small step towards creating awareness about the issue of trafficking and establishing linkages between stakeholders in the States of Uttar Pradesh, Delhi and Haryana. This Resource Directory provides information on:

- Indian law dealing with human trafficking
- Schemes put in place by the government (both State and central) to assist survivors of TIP

Traffickers often paint a rosy picture of the destination state/country in order to entice victims.
• Contact details of police, NGOs, CWCs, shelter homes, and legal aid authorities who assist survivors of TIP

• Recommendations for prevention of TIP and rescue strategies.

The rationale for choosing the three States is:

• Delhi is a hub of human trafficking in India. Delhi is a destination and transit point for victims/survivors brought from the northeast, Jharkhand, Nepal, Bangladesh, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Uttarakhand, and Rajasthan.7

• Trafficking for forced marriages is a growing problem in Haryana.8 Haryana is primarily a destination state for forced labour in sex industry, forced marriages, and child labour. Because of the ‘brides’ deficit in Haryana, a consequence of low female-to-male child sex ratio, it has been reported that girls from the northeast of India are regularly trafficked and forced into “servile marriages” in order to compensate this deficit.9

• Uttar Pradesh is a source, transit and destination state. The districts adjoining Nepal at the border are the transit areas. Child trafficking for work at brick kilns and carpet making is rampant.10

What is the Difference between a Source, Transit and Destination State?

Source state: The state to which the victim originally belongs/resided in and from where he/she has been forced into trafficking.

Transit state: The place where the victim is taken after being recruited by the trafficker. It is the intermediary state before the victim reaches the destination state and the victim may be kept there for extended periods of time. The victim may be taken to more than one transit state.

Destination state: The state which finally receives the trafficked victim.

This Resource Directory provides updated contact information with regard to the following stakeholders dealing with trafficking of women and children:

a) NGOs

NGOs play a large role in preventing trafficking, protecting survivors/victims, and enabling the prosecution of perpetrators. NGOs have assisted the police in rescue operations, providing shelter, counseling, and also legal aid to survivors. NGOs also function as implementing partners for government schemes aimed at addressing trafficking, such as the Ujjawala scheme.

b) Shelter Homes

Shelter homes are critical for protection of survivors/victims of trafficking. A listing of both private funded and public funded shelter homes have been provided in this Directory. State funded shelter homes have been set up in accordance with schemes such as Ujjawala and Swadhar Greh.

c) Childline

CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF) is the nodal agency of the Union Ministry of Women and Child Development acting as the parent organisation for setting up, managing and monitoring the CHILDLINE 1098 service all over the country. CHILDLINE 1098 service is a 24 hour free emergency phone outreach service for children in need of care and protection. CIF undertakes replication of CHILDLINE, networking and facilitation, training, research and documentation, and communications and strategic initiatives both at the national and international level.11

d) Child Welfare Committees

In accordance with the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) of Children Act 1986, a “child in need of care and protection” can be produced before the Child Welfare Committee for determining the nature of rehabilitation required [Section 29(1)]. The CWC has the power of a judicial bench.

e) Special Juvenile Police Units (SJPU)

The SJPUs were set up in accordance with the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act 2000, and deal with children in conflict with law and children in need of care and protection. As per the provisions of the Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) each SJPU should have two supporting paid social workers. The District Child Protection Society is responsible for appointing the social workers of which at least one should be a woman.

f) Anti-Human Trafficking Units

The Ministry of Home Affairs and United Nations Office of Drugs and Crime collaborated (UNODC) for creating awareness among police personnel so that they respond effectively to human trafficking in India. As the result of this engagement, a comprehensive scheme for establishment of integrated Anti Human Trafficking Units (AHTUs) was formulated by the Government of India.

g) State/District Legal Services Authorities

In accordance with The Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, legal services authorities are set up at both the state and district levels. These institutions provide free legal aid services to the weaker sections of society. Section 12 (b) of the Act indicates that a victim of human trafficking is entitled to free legal aid. While the public prosecutor would initiate prosecution, a legal aid lawyer can assist with the prosecution and provide legal counseling to survivors/victims, or conduct legal awareness trainings to stakeholders.

While acknowledging that men too are victims/survivors of human trafficking, this Resource Directory focuses on women and children. The Directory has been prepared in an easy to read format, and it is hoped that it will be a useful tool not just for stakeholders dealing with trafficking, but also for persons vulnerable to trafficking.

Methodology

Helplines, local NGOs working on TIP, shelter homes, Child Welfare Committees, Anti Human Trafficking Units and shelter homes relevant for survivors of trafficking in the States of Delhi, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh have been provided in this directory.

A desk based study was conducted by WPC at the start of the project wherein a list of support structures working on TIP were identified. An email was sent in December 2016 to “Feminist India” (an online group of feminist organizations and individuals working in India) asking for particulars of stakeholders dealing with the issue of trafficking.

Three focus group discussions (FGD's) were held with stakeholders in U.P. Haryana and Delhi. NGO's, shelter homes, Child-line and the AHTU were represented at the FGD's. The recommendations emerging from the FGD's have been annexed to this Directory as Annexure 1. Names of support structures were identified at the FGDs as well.

One of the key problems in drafting resource directories for stakeholders dealing with violence against women/girls is that the numbers are constantly changing, contact details provided online are imprecise and information available on websites is not updated. For this reason, WPC verified the information provided in this directory primarily through the means of telephonic interviews. Face to face meetings at the FGDs, RTI applications and reproduction of information as available on official websites were other methodologies adopted.

WPC partnered with the NGO, Tarun Chetna in Uttar Pradesh, and an individual consultant in Haryana to access information in relation to stakeholders working on human trafficking in the two States.

Information about shelter homes in Haryana is based on information retrieved from RTI applications sent by WPC and information available on the State Women and Child Department website.

Information provided about shelter homes in Uttar Pradesh has been verified by Tarun Chetna. Names of shelter homes listed on the U.P State WCD website have also been reproduced.

Information about shelter homes in Delhi is based on information verified with a Child Welfare Committee, phone calls, visits, and information available on official websites.

The information reproduced with regard to the victim compensation schemes in Delhi, Uttar Pradesh and Haryana is based on response to RTI applications sent by WPC.

The list of AHTU's, SJPU's, Child Welfare Committees and legal service authorities have been provided primarily based on information available on official websites.

The methodology used for verifying each support structure has been footnoted in the directory.

It is important to note that WPC did not investigate the quality of services provided by the listed support serves while compiling the directory. Discussions pertaining to quality of services took place during the three FGDs conducted in Delhi, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh. Recommendations put forth by participants concerning improving the quality of services available for survivors have been appended to the directory.
Existing Government Schemes

UJJAWALA (Effective 1st April, 2016)

Due to the high rise in cases of human trafficking, the Ministry of Women and Child Development formed, ‘A Comprehensive Scheme for Prevention of Trafficking for Rescue, Rehabilitation and Re-Integration of Victims of Trafficking for Commercial Sexual Exploitation- Ujjawala’. The objectives of this scheme are as follows:12

- To prevent trafficking of women and children for commercial sexual exploitation through social mobilization and involvement of local communities, awareness generation programmes, generate public discourse through workshops/seminars and such events and any other innovative activity
- To facilitate rescue of victims from the place of their exploitation and place them in safe custody

Swadhar Greh (2015)

This scheme is implemented through the Social Welfare/Women and Child Welfare Department of state governments, Women’s Development Corporations, urban local bodies, public/private trusts and voluntary organizations. According to this scheme, a supportive institutional framework for women victims is shaped to give them a life of conviction and dignity by providing food, clothing, shelter, health along with economic and social security for women victims of trafficking. It also assures proper monitoring of the services to make sure that under no circumstances they should be left unattended or abandoned. This scheme is not only for the victims of trafficking but also for any women in distress and who needs immediate help (for e.g. survivors of domestic violence, deserted women, women prisoners and victims of trafficking who faced sexual exploitation etc.). One of the beneficiaries are trafficked women/girls rescued or runaway from brothels or the other places where they face exploitation and women affected by HIV/AIDS who do not have any social or economic support. Under the Scheme, Swadhar Greh will be set up in every district with capacity of 30 women with the following objectives:\textsuperscript{13}

- To cater to the primary need of shelter, food, clothing, medical treatment and care of the women in distress and who are without any social and economic support
- To enable them to regain their emotional strength that gets hampered due to their encounter with unfortunate circumstances
- To provide them with legal aid and guidance to enable them to take steps for their re-adjustment in family/society
- To rehabilitate them economically and emotionally
- To act as a support system that understands and meets various requirements of women in distress
- To enable them to start their life afresh with dignity and conviction

Support services provided under this scheme are as follows:

Legal Aid: District Legal Services Authority are mandated to provide legal assistance to the beneficiaries.

Vocational Training: The implementing organisation can provide for vocational training through Vocational Training Institutes recognized by Directorate General of Employment and Training under the Ministry of Labour and Employment.

Medical Facility: The implementing organisation must engage one part-time doctor to ensure good health of the inmates.

Counseling: Telephonic counseling must be provided to the needy women.

Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) – 2009

The Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) is a centrally sponsored scheme aimed at building a protective environment for children in difficult circumstances, as well as other vulnerable children, through Government-Civil Society Partnership. The objectives under this scheme are as follows:\textsuperscript{14}

- To institutionalize essential services and strengthen structures for emergency outreach, institutional care, family and community based care, counseling and support services at the national, regional, state and district levels;
- To enhance capacities at all levels, of all functionaries including, administrators and service providers, members of allied systems including, local bodies, police, judiciary and other concerned departments of State Governments to undertake responsibilities under the ICPS;
- To create database and knowledge base for child protection services, including MIS and child tracking system in the country for effective implementation and monitoring of child protection services;
- Undertake research and documentation;

• To strengthen child protection at family and community level, create and promote preventive measures to protect children from situations of vulnerability, risk and abuse;

• To ensure appropriate inter-sectoral response at all levels, coordinate and network with all allied systems;

• To raise public awareness, educate public on child rights and protection on situation and vulnerabilities of children and families, on available child protection services, schemes and structures at all levels.

ICPS brings together multiple existing child protection schemes of the Ministry under one comprehensive umbrella, and integrates additional interventions for protecting children and preventing harm. ICPS, therefore, would institutionalize essential services and strengthen structures, enhance capacities at all levels, create database and knowledge base for child protection services, strengthen child protection at family and community level, ensure appropriate inter-sectoral response at all levels.15

ICPS is based on the principles of ‘protection of child rights’ and ‘best interests of the child’ and aims to institutionalize services for emergency outreach, family and community based care, counseling and support. ICPS sensitizes functionaries in the system towards child protection, and raise public awareness. It seeks to put in place both preventive and curative mechanisms for a child needing protection from child labour, harmful traditional practices, child marriage, child abuse, the absence of parental care and commercial sexual exploitation, trafficking etc. The model adopts government-civil society partnership to ensure child protection and create a safe and healthy environment for the children of India.

In order to ensure the objectives of ICPS are met, the scheme also calls for the establishment of new bodies within a service delivery structure at the District, State, Regional and the National level. The scheme outlines a specific implementation plan. Along with this, it also discusses the need of convergence of services to have the integrated plan.

Rajiv Gandhi Scheme for Empowerment of Adolescent Girls (RGSEAG) – SABLA (2010)

The Rajiv Gandhi scheme for empowerment of adolescent girls (RGSEAG) – SABLA is a centrally sponsored initiative by the Government of India under Ministry of Women and Child Development.

The objectives of the Scheme are to:

• Enable the Adolescent Girls (AGs) for self-development and empowerment

• Improve their nutrition and health status

• Promote awareness about health, hygiene, nutrition, Adolescent Reproductive and Sexual Health (ARSH) and family and child care

• Upgrade their home-based skills, life skills and tie up with National Skill Development Program (NSDP) for vocational skills

• Mainstream out of school AGs into formal/non formal education

• Provide information/guidance about existing public services such as PHC, CHC, Post Office, Bank, Police Station, etc.

This scheme is mainly created to empower adolescent girls and help them by providing health care, life skills training, by making them aware about the existing public services etc. by creating different component like, Sakhi and Saheli under Kishori Samooh, by providing the adolescent girls with training kits and a proper monitoring of all the resources are done with the help of the Panchayati Raj and the NGOs/CBOs.

Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojana (PMKVY) - 2016

PMKVY is a skill certification scheme under the aegis of the Ministry of Skill Development and Training. It aims to improve the livelihood of Indian youth by equipping them with industry-relevant skills. Training and assessment fees are fully administered by the Government. The ‘Short Term Training’ component of the scheme, to be implemented at PMKVY Training Centers, is for the benefit of unemployed youths or college/school dropouts. It provides training in areas such as soft skills, entrepreneurship and digital literacy. Placement assistance is also provided.

Victim Compensation Scheme

The right to reparation and remedy is recognized in India under Sections 357 and 357A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Section 357 provides for payment of compensation to a victim for loss or injury suffered as a result of the offence, payable by the offender, at the time of sentencing.

Section 357A provides for payment of compensation by the state government in cases where compensation awarded under Section 357 is not adequate for rehabilitation; or where cases end in acquittal or discharge and victim has to be rehabilitated; or where offender is not traced or identified but victim is identified, and trial takes place; or where the trial court feels there is a need for interim compensation. State governments have to prepare victim compensation schemes in coordination with the Central Government. All states have notified such schemes. Asha Jyoti Kendra (Uttar Pradesh) - 2016

Asha Jyoti Kendra was inaugurated in Bareilly, Agra, Meerut, Noida, Ghaziabad, Kanpur, Kanauj, Lucknow, Allahabad, Gorakhpur and Varanasi as a pilot project. Under this initiative the centre will provide counselling, legal and medical aid and police assistance to traumatized women.

181 Mahila Asha Jyoti Line (Helpline Number): The 181 helpline will assist in providing temporary shelter to women in U.P when needed, provide immediate help to women during domestic violence situations, and also provide legal and other consultation.

For helping the distressed women who seek professional care, the helplines (Women powerline-1090, Childline-1098 and Ambulance service-108) will be connected with each other.

A Snapshot of Anti-Trafficking Legal Provisions in India

Presently, there is no one comprehensive piece of legislation dealing with human trafficking. The criminalization and penalization of human trafficking is covered under various statutory provisions.

The Constitution of India, vide Article 23(1) prohibits traffic in human beings, beggar and other similar forms of forced labour. Article 23(1) states that, “Traffic in human beings and beggar and other similar forms of forced labour are prohibited and any contravention of this provision shall be an offence punishable in accordance with law.”

The term ‘forced labour’ and ‘beggar’ are not defined in Indian law. Their meanings have been clarified over the years by the Supreme Court. In the case of the People’s Union for Democratic Rights vs. Union of India, the Supreme Court observed, “where a person provides labour or service to another for remuneration which is less than the minimum wage fixed by the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, he renders forced labour...within the meaning of Article 23.”

Trafficking is a serious criminal offence. The offences of trafficking, under all the various sections and statutory provisions, are:

- Cognizable: A cognizable offence is one for which an arrest can be made by the police without a warrant from a Magistrate.
- Non-compoundable: Some offences are so serious that they cannot be compounded, only quashed. This means the complainant and the accused cannot enter into a compromise, or agreement, to drop the charges.
- Non-bailable: It is the discretion of the court whether to grant bail or not.

18 AIR 1982 Supreme Court 1273
Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, 1956 (ITPA)

ITPA regulates and restricts prostitution and penalizes trafficking for the purposes of prostitution. Prostitution is defined as sexual exploitation or abuse of persons for commercial purposes. The Act penalizes keeping or managing a brothel, living on the earnings of prostitution, prostitution in or in the vicinity of a public place, and procuring, inducing or taking person for the sake of prostitution. As per Section 14, all the offences are cognizable in nature.

Specific offences under the ITPA include:

- keeping a brothel or allowing a premises to be used as a brothel (Section 3- bailable offence);
- living on the earnings of prostitution (Section 4- non-bailable offence);
- procuring, inducing or taking persons for the sake of prostitution (Section 5- non-bailable offence);
- detaining a person in a premises where prostitution is carried out (Section 6 – non-bailable offence);
- prostitution in, or in the vicinity of, public places (Section 7- non-bailable offence);
- seducing or soliciting for the purpose of prostitution (Section 8 - non-bailable offence); and
- Seducing a person in custody (Section 9 - non-bailable offence).

As per Section 5 of the Act, procuring, inducing or taking a person from one place to another for the purposes of prostitution is punishable with rigorous imprisonment of at least three years, which may extend to seven years, with payment of fine. If the person who has been procured, induced or taken is a child, then the minimum punishment is seven years, which may extend to life.

Section 5A defines trafficking as recruiting, transporting, transferring, harbouring or receiving a person for the purposes of prostitution by means of threat, coercion, deception, abduction, fraud, abuse of power or position of vulnerability, or giving or receiving payments in order to obtain the consent of such person exercising control over another person. It prescribes, on a first conviction, a minimum punishment of rigorous imprisonment of seven years and in the case of subsequent convictions, imprisonment for life.

ITPA is limited in its scope as it is confined to criminalizing the activities of persons engaged in the sale and procurement of women for the purpose of prostitution only. ITPA does not target the women and girls who are engaged in prostitution, but aims to target anyone who benefits from the exploitation of prostitution.

ITPA does not differentiate between adult women and children.

Indian Penal Code, 1860

The Indian Penal Code, 1860 (IPC) is the primary criminal code of India, which covers all aspects of criminal law. The following sections deal specifically with crimes related to TIP:

Section 366A, Section 366B: Procuring minor girls and importing any girl under the age of 21 years from a foreign country for the purposes of forcing or seducing to illicit intercourse with another person is punishable with imprisonment which may extend to ten years, and also payment of fine.

Section 367: Kidnapping or abducting a person for slavery or subjecting to ‘unnatural lust’ of any person is punishable with imprisonment which may extend to ten years, and payment of fine.
Section 370 introduced by the Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 2013, defines and criminalizes the offence of trafficking. Trafficking is defined as the act of recruiting, transporting, harbouring, transferring or receiving a person (or persons) for the purposes of exploitation. There must be an element of force, coercion, deception, inducement or abuse of power for the act to be considered trafficking. Exploitation has been widely defined to include any act or form of physical or sexual exploitation, slavery, any practices similar to slavery and forced removal of organs. The section further stipulates that consent of the person(s) trafficked is immaterial to the determination of the offence of trafficking.

Section 370A provides for punishment for engaging in sexual exploitation of a trafficked person. Whoever engages a person for sexual exploitation in any manner, whom he/she knows or has reason to believe has been trafficked, then he/she shall be liable to be convicted for rigorous imprisonment for a minimum three years, extendable to five years, and also payment of fine. If the exploited person is a minor, then the punishment is rigorous imprisonment for a minimum five years, extendable to seven years, and also payment of fine.

Section 372, Section 373: Buying, selling or letting to hire any girl under the age of eighteen years for the purposes of prostitution or illicit intercourse with any person or for any unlawful and immoral purpose is punishable with imprisonment which may extend to ten years and is also liable to payment of fine.

Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015

The definition of a “child in need of care and assistance” as per the Juvenile Justice Act is broad and includes a destitute child, a child living with a person who is abusive, a child likely to be inducted into drug abuse or trafficking, or a missing child whose parents cannot be found after making a reasonable inquiry. Section 2(14) also identifies other circumstances which might render the child vulnerable.
to trafficking, such as being without any home or settled place of abode and without any ostensible means of subsistence, or working in contravention of labour laws, or begging, or living on the street, or being orphaned or abandoned by his/her parents, or affected by armed conflict, civil unrest or natural calamity.

A “child in need of care and protection” may be produced before the Child Welfare Committee by any police officer, public servant, Child line, services/NGO, any social worker or public spirited citizen, by the child himself/herself, nurse, doctor or management of a nursing home, hospital or maternity home.\(^{21}\)

A “child in conflict with law” means a child who is alleged or found to have committed an offence and who has not completed eighteen years of age on the date of commission of such offence.\(^{22}\) A child in conflict with law cannot be placed in a police lockup or in jail, but has to be produced before the Juvenile Justice Board in accordance with Section 10 of the Act.

Further, Section 81 of the Act states that whoever sells or buys a child for any purpose shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years and shall also be liable to fine of one lakh rupees.

Section 43 provides for the establishment and maintenance of Open Shelters, which shall function as a short-term residential support for children who are vulnerable to abuse or to protect them from a life on the streets. Vide Section 50; Children’s Homes may be set up in every district or groups of districts for the placement of children in need of care and protection, for their care, treatment, education, rehabilitation and development.

The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012

The POCSO Act criminalizes the following acts of sexual violence committed on children:

1. Penetrative sexual assault (defined in Section 3, punishment given under Section 4)
2. Aggravated penetrative sexual assault (defined in Section 5, punishment given under Section 6)
3. Sexual assault (defined in Section 7, punishment given under Section 8)
4. Aggravated sexual assault (defined in Section 9, punishment given under Section 10)
5. Sexual harassment (defined in Section 11, punishment given under Section 12)
6. Using child for pornographic purposes (defined in Section 13, punishment given under Section 14 and 15)
7. Abetment of an offence (defined in Section 16, punishment given under Section 17 and 18): Anyone employing, harbouring, receiving or transporting a child, by means of threat or coercion, abduction, fraud, abuse of power or of a position, vulnerability or the giving or receiving of payments or benefits to achieve the consent of a person having control over another person, for the purpose of any offence under the Act, is said to aid the doing of that act. Hence, anyone involved in the trafficking of a child who results in the commission of an offence under the Act, would be liable for punishment.

\(^{22}\) Section 2 (13) of the JJ Act
POCSO provides for mandatory reporting of sexual abuse of a child or apprehended sexual abuse of a child. Any person (including a child) who has apprehension that an offence is likely to be committed, or has knowledge that an offence has been committed, shall provide such information to the Special Juvenile Police Unit or the local police.23 However, the apprehension or knowledge has to have reasonable basis. For example, hearsay from strangers who have no knowledge cannot form reasonable basis.24

All offences in POCSO are cognizable, non-compoundable and non-bailable, with the exception of the offence of failure to report or record a case (Section 21) and the offence of false complaint or false information (Section 22).

Both men and women can be perpetrators of sexual violence and face criminal charges as per POCSO. Consent to the sexual activity is irrelevant in a POCSO case.

The Transplantation of Human Organs Act, 1994

Section 19 of the Act criminalizes commercial dealings in human organs. Whoever offers to supply, or makes or receives any payment for the supply of a human organ, or seeks to find a person willing to supply for payment any human organs, or advertises for the supply or payment for supply of any human organ, shall be punishable with imprisonment for two years which may extend to seven years and payment of fine.

The Prohibition of Child Marriage Act 2006

Section 12 of the Act provides that when a minor child has been sold for the purpose of marriage, or who has been married and then trafficked or sold or used for immoral purposes, then such marriage shall be null and void.

The Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009

The “RTE” Act was enacted to provide free and compulsory education to every child in the age group of six to fourteen years. It is the duty of appropriate Governments to provide such free education and ensure compulsory admission, attendance, and completion of elementary education, and ensure that children belonging to weaker sections of the society and disadvantaged groups are not discriminated against and prevented from pursuing and completing compulsory education on any grounds.25

The Inter-State Migrant Workmen (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1979

This Act regulates employment and service of workmen of any State who are recruited by contractors to work in an establishment in another State. It applies to those establishments and contractors which are engaged in industrial or commercial establishments.

23 Section 19 (1) of POCSO
25 Section 8, The Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 employ more than five inter-state migrant workers. Employment of inter-State migrants is prohibited without registration of the establishment under the Act\textsuperscript{26}, and contractors must be licensed under the Act to recruit or employ workmen from a State to work in an establishment in another State. The license may contain terms and conditions under which workmen are recruited and employed, remuneration to be paid, hours of work and fixation of wages.\textsuperscript{27} Contractors are obligated to notify appropriate authorities in the states where the worker is recruited from and where he is to be employed, and have to issue passbooks to the workmen containing details about place of employment, amount and mode of payment of wage and other prescribed details.\textsuperscript{28} The Act also regulates wage rates payable to inter-State migrant workers,\textsuperscript{29} payment of displacement allowance\textsuperscript{30}, journey allowance\textsuperscript{31}, equal pay for equal work, provision of suitable residential accommodation and free medical facilities.\textsuperscript{32} The Act also provides for appointment of Inspectors for checking compliance with the Act.\textsuperscript{33} The Act provides for punishment for contravention of provisions under the Act with imprisonment of up to one year and/or payment of fine\textsuperscript{34}, and further provides that when an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, every person who was in charge of, and was responsible to, the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.\textsuperscript{35}

Registering a First Information Report in a Case of Human Trafficking

A few important things to keep in mind:

- The First Information Report (FIR) can be registered at a police station by ANY person who has knowledge of commission of an offence of human trafficking.

- The police MUST register an FIR under Section 154 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Cr.P.C) if the information discloses the commission of a cognizable offence. The offence of human trafficking is cognizable.

- The police cannot refuse to register an FIR on the ground that the alleged offence occurred outside the jurisdiction of the police station. When the alleged offence has taken place outside the jurisdiction of the police station, then the police must file a ‘Zero FIR’ and then transfer the FIR to the concerned police station under Section 170 Cr.P.C.

\textsuperscript{26} Section 6, The Inter-State Migrant Workmen (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1979
\textsuperscript{27} Section 8, As above
\textsuperscript{28} Section 12, As above
\textsuperscript{29} Section 13, As above
\textsuperscript{30} Section 14, As above
\textsuperscript{31} Section 15, As above
\textsuperscript{32} Section 16, As above
\textsuperscript{33} Section 20, As above
\textsuperscript{34} Section 25, As above
\textsuperscript{35} Section 27, As above
If a police officer refuses to register a FIR after receiving information about the commission of the offence under Section 370 or 370A of the Indian Penal Code, then he is liable to be prosecuted under Section 166A IPC.

Tips for Registering an FIR

- If you have sufficient information that an offence of trafficking has been committed, approach either the nearest police station in cases of urgency, or determine the police station in whose jurisdiction the crime has taken place. Approaching the appropriate police station will reduce delays in investigation.
- A “Zero FIR” can be registered at any police station in India irrespective of where the cognizable offence was committed.
- Do not approach the police on the basis of rumors or gossip alone.
- Information about the commission of the offence can be given in writing to the police or can be given orally. If given orally, the police officer must reduce it to writing and read it over to you.
- Give the following details while registering an FIR
  - Date and time.
  - The place from where the survivor was trafficked (source state) and the destination state.
  - Details of the trafficker(s). If you do not know their identity, you should give information which will help to establish their identity, such as, age, appearance, sex, identifying marks etc.
  - Details of witnesses, if any.
  - Your contact information.
  - A clear and coherent narration of the incident. It is advisable to write down the facts before approaching the police.
  - State that action must be taken against the trafficker.
  - Ensure that there is no exaggeration of events or any falsehood in the report.
- Speak confidently to the police and insist upon having the FIR recorded.
- The written report (either written by yourself or by the police on the basis of your narration of events) must be signed by you.
- A copy of the FIR must be given to you free of charge.

Recommendations Emerging from the Study

Recommendations emerging from the FGD held at Bahraich, Uttar Pradesh on 20th December 2016

General Recommendations:
The police need to work in tandem with civil society and local level groups in order to handle the large scale problem of human trafficking. Survivors often fear speaking up as they are scared of being prosecuted. Counseling of survivors can be done by CSO’s to strengthen their confidence.

The fear of repatriation can prevent survivors from speaking up. The process of repatriation needs to be handled sensitively.

Increasing the capacity in shelter homes and strengthening vocational training/skill development in shelter homes is critical.

Recommendations for Rescue

- A whatsapp group can be formed of stakeholders involved in rescue operations. As traffickers get to know of rescue operations fast, the group should be kept small and must follow the rules of maintaining the secrecy due to the gravity of the situation.

- The survey techniques must be used more to intervene deep into the houses of each village or houses even in the urban areas as these techniques builds a rapport as well as pressure to reveal the details of everyone present in the house. A similar survey technique was used by DEHAT to save a young girl who was held in captivity and being sexually abused.

- As part of the ICPS scheme, the village level child committees need to be strengthened.

- Software can be developed for sending information to police and other stakeholders.

- An inventory of suspected traffickers should be made available in the police stations separately so that anyone can get access to it whenever required.

Recommendations emerging from the FGD held at Meham (Rohtak district), Haryana on 30th January, 2017

Strategies for prevention

Poverty was seen as the main reason for trafficking. Women from poor, less developed areas were trafficked into other states with the promise of money and financial betterment. Poverty alleviation and availability of good educational and livelihood opportunities in places with rampant poverty would prevent trafficking.

With regard to the problem of bride trafficking, it was felt that marriage registration would be an effective way to track women from other States who were brought into Haryana for marriage. While it was not a prevention strategy, it could be an important method to secure visibility of such women and ensure their protection.
Improvement in sex ratio was also seen as crucial for preventing trafficking.

The Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005, is being used by some survivors of bride trafficking for obtaining various reliefs.

Education and awareness generation among students (especially after Class 10th), youth and community members was seen as an important method to prevent trafficking and increase reporting of offences. Sex education should be made an important component of education. Information materials should be in simple Hindi for promoting better understanding of the issue, and websites of Government agencies and NGOs should be available in Hindi as well. Youth should be linked to Panchayats and self-help groups to take measures to prevent trafficking.

Role of media in highlighting cases of trafficking needs to be strengthened.

Legal training should be conducted for NCC members and in colleges.

Recommendations for better protection and rehabilitation of survivors of trafficking

- The participants felt that there should be a separate law on trafficking.
- Stakeholders and institutions involved in preventing, rescue and rehabilitation in cases of trafficking should be better staffed. Currently, there is under-staffing across institutions and staff members are also not aware of laws and procedures and are not adequately sensitized.
- Awareness of laws and schemes among NGOs should also be improved. A consolidated database of schemes, policies and laws should be made available online, in English and Hindi.
- There should be a system of monitoring and regulation of NGOs which provide shelter to girls and women.
- Budget for infrastructural development needs to be increased.
- A shelter home per district should be established.
- Proformas/formats for monitoring and auditing of schemes should be made available.
- Panchayats should be sensitized on the issue of trafficking, and sarpanch should be encouraged to intervene in cases and enable protection of survivors of trafficking.
- In many cases, especially those involving minor children, there is a problem in tracing their families. Survivors do not have correct or complete information about their place of origin. In such cases, use of Aadhar cards for proper identification should be encouraged. Placement agencies should be registered and monitored, and there should be a system for registering and checking-up on migrant workers to prevent their exploitation.

Recommendations emerging from the FGD held at New Delhi on 19th January 2017

General recommendations

Creating awareness on safe migration, addressing joblessness and improving education are key to controlling the root causes of trafficking.

In Delhi, one of the key concerns in relation to human trafficking is the proliferation of unregistered placement agencies providing domestic help. It is important that recruitment of domestic help be through legal channels.
The condition of shelter homes for women needs to be improved greatly and NGOs can push the State government to make necessary improvements. NGOs can adopt small scale models based on best practices in order to improve anti-human trafficking initiatives.

An important recommendation for shelter homes is that shelter homes must encourage the women to move out and become independent. The education of minor survivors of trafficking who are rescued is important. Shortage of funds and resource crunch hampers the reintegration of survivors into the mainstream.

One of the participants pointed out that in a shelter home in Banaras, the capacity is 30, but 300 girls and women reside there, taking turns to sleep.

Shelter homes should ideally be like training centers. The women must be encouraged to move on and leave the shelter home.

Coordination between the Ministry of Women and Child Development and the Ministry of Home Affairs is necessary for effective functioning of the police in cases of crimes against women.

Uniformity in victim compensation state schemes – both in terms of the amount to be awarded and the procedure for availing of the scheme – is necessary particularly in cases of human trafficking where cross border movement takes place.

Prevention of human trafficking requires:

- Trainings on the issue;
- Involvement of local structures – gram panchayat members, local level bodies, teachers unions, religious groups etc.;
- Employment generation;
- Education.

Education is most important in preventing trafficking. The education provided in schools needs to focus on vocational training and skill development. Teachers can play a major role in preventing trafficking by providing information and making themselves available for questions and counseling students.

At Every Railway Station and Bus Stations, there should be Help Desk for Women and Children round the clock (24 x 7)."
